This bulletin is to share information on Custom Comfort’s Qualified Manufacturer Identification (QMID) number and how it applies to 25C Tax Credits.

For additional information on 25C and filing processes, please consult a tax professional.

What is a QMID?

The IRS will be requiring a QMID number on Form 5695 in order to receive tax credits when filing 2025 taxes. As a manufacturer, Custom Comfort has been assigned a unique QMID that will be used if a 25C eligible system is installed.

Custom Comfort’s QMID: X1Z9

The above code is to be used on any Custom Comfort equipment that meets 25C designation requirements. Custom Comfort is in the process of updating online resources to ensure this code is prominently displayed.

What is the difference between a QMID vs QPIN number?

There is a difference between QMID vs QPIN regarding 25C filings. It is important to distinguish the difference to avoid confusion when communicating with a homeowner. In short, the QMID provided in this document will be required for installations in 2025 and for filing 2025 taxes in 2026. More information on QPIN will be provided once additional information is available.
